WE APPRECIATE IT

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. — The WVU Medicine Berkeley Medical Center introduced its first-ever Stroke Support Group offering camaraderie and support to local stroke survivors and their families.

The free, monthly support group is open to survivors to join together in the group and see how they can support their emotional and physical recovery. The support group also helps caregivers for a stroke survivor - are also encouraged to attend.

Stroke Support Group meets the third Thursday of each month from 6 to 7 p.m. in the Berkeley Medical Center's meeting room 1 in Martinsburg. Dr. Sukhinder Gill, a neurologist, will join the group at the July 19 meeting to share information and answer questions.
